2006-2007 FACULTY GRANT RESEARCH RECIPIENT

“A Researcher’s Dilemma: Informed
Consent in Theory and Practice”

The Center for Undergraduate Research (CUR):

What made you choose your student assistants?

Dr. Charles Gramlich (Dr. Gramlich):

Good students with discipline who get their work done.

CUR: In your opinion, what makes your research unique in comparison to other projects?

Dr. Gramlich: It focuses on aiding the researcher’s general approach to research, rather than a single experimental topic.

CUR: What is the purpose or goal of your research to your field?

Dr. Gramlich: It aids in my managing the Xavier Institutional Review Board (IRB).

CUR: After your research is completed what will be your next project?

Dr. Gramlich: An article on David Morrell.
