The O'Jays are living legends. With over 24 Top Ten hits and 59 total charted songs, performing for over 50 years, they are light years away from easing up on the gas. The O'Jays have contributed 10 Gold Albums with 9 going Platinum and 10 #1 hits. Their "For the Love" album released in 2001, was a chart topper, and in 2002, was nominated for a Grammy.

Hailing from Canton, Ohio, Eddie Levert, Sr. & Walter Williams, Sr. two of the original members, and Eric Nolan Grant will perform such classic hits as, "Back Stabbers", "For the Love of Money", "Darlin' Darlin’ Baby", "Love Train", and "Used Ta Be My Girl" while executing their synchronized steps, choreographed by the late Cholly Adkins.

At concerts in America and overseas, their soulful singing brings in "standing room" only audiences. Says Walter Williams., "We have three generations at our concerts... the kids, the moms and dads, and the grandmas and grandads." They were inducted into the Vocal Group Hall of Fame in 2004 and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2005. In 2011, the O'Jays were awarded BET's "Lifetime Achievement Award". After 50 years of continued success, the O'Jays are still going strong!

Stephanie Mills was born on March 22, 1957 in Brooklyn, New York. She honed her rich vocals singing gospel music. At age nine, she won 1st Prize at New York’s famed Apollo Theater’s talent contest for six weeks straight. That success led to her being chosen as the opening act for the Isley Brothers.

In 1975, Ms. Mills starred in the Broadway production, "The Wiz", an adaptation of L. Frank Baum's classic book, "The Wizard of Oz." For five years she mesmerized audiences nightly as Dorothy, “the little girl with the big voice”.

In 1989 she recorded the song “Home” as a posthumous tribute to The Wiz's producer, Ken Harper, and the song’s composer, Charlie Smalls, which went to #1 on the R&B Chart. Today, Ms. Mills is still performing to "sold out" audiences.
